Asian Conference on Thermal Sciences 2017

Asia has a lot of emerging countries and regions that are winning recognition in the world heat transfer community. To enhance more scientific interactions among Asian researchers, scientists and practitioners working in the area of heat transfer, a regional networking system, Asian Union of Thermal Sciences and Engineering (AUTSE), was established in November, 2015. AUTSE has decided to launch a new series of conferences, Asian Conference on Thermal Sciences (ACTS): the first ACTS will be organized by the Thermal Engineering Division of Korean Society of Mechanical Engineers (KSME) and co-organized by Heat Transfer Society of Japan and Heat and Mass Transfer Society of China.

Topics of interest include (but are not limited to):

- Heat and Mass Transfer
- Micro/Nano Scale Phenomena
- Thermo-Physical Properties
- HVAC systems
- Energy Devices and Systems
- Reacting flows
- Sustainable and Renewable Energy
- Biological/Biomedical Engineering
- Nuclear Engineering
